

Australasian Society for Continental Philosophy

ASCP Policy on Equity, Diversity and Inclusion (EDI)

According to the ASCP Constitution, “The Society also actively supports principles of equity, diversity and inclusion” (§3.1).

The ASCP

- is committed to the principles of equity, diversity, and social inclusion
- rejects discrimination on the basis of race, class, sex, gender identity, disability, sexual orientation, age or any other forms of social disadvantage
- supports a pro-active approach to the advancement of underrepresented and minority communities and their viewpoints
- holds that academic freedom and the protection of the right to equity and diversity are compatible aims

The EDI officer in the ASCP executive is responsible to:

- Develop and implement an action plan for EDI
- Consult with members about EDI issues
- Assist in the organizing of one or more panels at the annual ASCP conference that address EDI issues from both academic perspectives and for the practical issues facing the Society.